SPRING MAKEUP MID SEMESTER EXAMINATION-2025

School of Computer Engineering
Kalinga Institute of Industrial Technology, Deemed to be University

Universeal Human Value (UHV)

[HS30401]

Time: 1 1/2 Hours Full Mark: 20

Answer all the questions.
The figures in the margin indicate full marks.
Candidates are required to give their answers in their own words as far as practicable and all parts of a question should be answered at one place only.

1. Answer all the questions. [1 Mark X 5]
   a) What is Self-exploration?
   b) Define Animal Conciousness
   c) Define Sensations in UHV
   d) What is Imagination?
   e) Distinguish between Care and Guidance in feeling of relationship.
2. Explain "Natural acceptance is innate, invariant and universeal". Explain this statement with an suitable example. [5 Marks]
3. "Human being is the co-existence of the Self and the Body"- Explain this statement with suitable example [5 Marks]
4. How do you differentiate between intention and competence when you have to joudge other? Why it is important explain with example? [5 Marks]

SPRING Makeup MID SEMESTER EXAMINATION-2025

Universal Human Values [HS 30401]
Scheme of Evaluation

Q.1		Answer all the questions.
	a)	What is Self-exploration? Ans: Self-exploration is a process of seeing the truth about a reality on our own right, by our own observation and investigation. Through this process, we understand the reality and our participation (value) with it.	1 mark
	b)	Define Animal Conciousness. Ans: Living of human being only on the basis of physical facilities and not with right understanding and relationship. Working only for physival facilities is living with animal consciousness. Living with assumption for oneself as body.	1 mark
	c)	Define Sensations in UHV Ans: A perception associated with stimulation of a sense organ or with aspecific body condition is known as sensation. In other words, it is a term commonly used to refer to the subjective experience resulting from stimulation of a sense organ, for instance,a sensation of warm, sour, or green. Suppose we had seen the bike and not associated it with greatness rather we only liked the way it looked then this is based on the sensation.	1 mark
	d)	What is Imagination? Ans: the activities of desire, thought and expectation at the level of self, are collectively called as Imagination. (Imagination = desire + thought + expectation)	1 mark
	e)	Distinguish between Care and Guidance in feeling of relationship. Ans: The feeling of nurture and protect the body of our relatives is called care, because we understand a human being as a coexistence of the self and the body. Whereas the feeling of ensuring right understanding and feelings in the other (my relatives) is called guidance.	0.5+0.5 mark
2	Explain "Natural acceptance is innate, invariant and universeal". Explain this statement with an suitable example. Ans. Natural acceptance implies unconditional and total acceptance of the self, people and environment. It also refers to the absence of any exception from others. Once we fully and truly commit ourself on the basis of natural acceptance, we feel a holistic sense of inner harmony, tranquillity and fulfilment. Actually natural acceptance is way to accept the good things naturally. Learn everything that is good from others, but bring it in, and in our own way absorb it; do not become others. We can easily verify proposals in the basis of characteristics of natural acceptance mentioned below:	1.5 mark 2.5 mark

a. Natural acceptance does not change with time. It remains invariant with time. For example our natural acceptance for trust and respect does not change with age.

b. It does not depend on the place. Whatever we have accepted, in our life, at any time of our age, does not change, even if we move from one place to another one.

c. It does not depend on our beliefs or past conditionings. No matter how deep our belief or past conditioning, as long as we ask ourselves the question sincerely, as long as we refer deep within ourselves, the answer will always be the same.

d. This natural acceptance is 'constantly there', something we can refer to. Natural acceptance is always there. Whatever we do, this natural acceptance is within us, it is telling us what is right.

e. Natural acceptance is the same for all of us: it is part and parcel of every human being, it is part of humanness. Though each one of us, may have different likes and dislikes and means to live and to react etc. but if we go deep in our mind the purpose of our work, behaviour, efforts etc. are based on common goals like need to be happy, need to be respected, need to get prosperity. So our basic acceptance remains the same.

Example 1 mark

Ans: The human being is the co-existence of self and body, and there is exchange of information between the two, that is self and body exist together and are related. There is a flow of information from self to the body and from body to self. We can make this distinction between the self and the body in three ways in terms of the needs, activities and the types of these two entities. All the needs of self , say respect, trust etc can be called as Happiness, while the needs of body are physical facilities like food. The two things are qualitatively different. There is no relevance of quantity for the needs of self as it is qualitative, while the needs of body are quantitative, and they are limited in quantity. 1 mark

The activities of self are like desire, thought, selection while the activities of body are like eating sleeping, breathing etc. The mode of interaction of self includes knowing, assuming, recognizing and fulfilment. The fulfilment depends on recognition which depends on assumption and knowing. If assuming is based on knowledge (knowing), then the recognition will be correct and fulfilment will be correct. If assuming is not based on knowledge (knowing), then the things may go wrong. The mode of interaction of body is only recognizing and fulfilling. The self is a conscious entity and the body is a material entity, or physic-chemical in nature. 2.5 mark

Thus we can say

			Co-existence
Human Being	=	Self (T)		Body
			information
		The conscious entity that desires, thinks, imagines		The material entity that has physic-chemical activities like heart-beats, digesting etc.
		Knowing, assuming, Recognizing and fulfilling		Recognizing and fulfilling

1.5 mark

To conclude we can say that the human being can be understood in terms of a co-existence of two distinct entities, namely self and body. Their needs and activities are quite different and have to be understood accordingly. But these two constituents of human being are to act in close synergy with each other.

4	How do you differentiate between intention and competence when you have to joudge other? Why it is important explain eith example? Ans: Trust is the foundational value in relationship. " To be assured that each human being inherently wants oneself and the other to be happy and prosperous" is known as trust. Mutual trust is a shared belief that we can depend on each other to achieve a common purpose. Trust is the expectation of people that they can rely on our word. It is built through integrity and consistency in relationships. There are two aspects in trust: a) Intention (wanting to-our natural acceptance) b)Competence (being able to do) Both intention and competence are the aspects of trust. Intention is what one aspires for (our natural acceptance) and competence in the ability to fulfil the aspiration. In intention every human being wants to do what is right, only the competence may be lacking which needs to be developed through proper understanding and practice. But what we are doing today is that when we are judging ourself we are judging on the basis of our intention, whereas when we are judging the others we are judging him/her on the basis of his/her competence. We trust our own intention while we are not ready to trust the others intention. It is the same for other as well. We find that while we look at our intention, we are sure of it, we are not sure of the other's intention. We are actually seeing their competence, and making a conclusion on their intention. Hence, mistrust is born and we deny the relationship. We seldom look at our competence and other's intention. It is very important to differentiate between intention and competence. If we have trust on intention, we have a feeling of being related to the other and we start helping the other to improve his competence, if he does not have enough. Trust on intention is the starting point for mutual development. That is where the relationship begins. It is in that sense we are saying that trust on intention is the foundation of relationship. Example: The glass broke by accident from About Myself and About Other Let us consider a simple example. If a glass tumbler slips from your hand and breaks, you immediately say, "the glass broke by accident. I had no intention to break the glass". You don't even take the responsibility that you couldn't handle it properly (lack of competence) and the glass slipped. But, if a glass slips for someone else's hand, you may say, "you broke the glass". We doubt the intention of the other person right away. If we realize that it was not his intention to break the glass, rather it slipped by accident, we may say, "you need to be more careful (work on your competence)". Problems start when we don't distinguish between intention and competence.	1 mark 1 mark 2 mark 1 mark
